The 23rd Annual NCMCA Sigmon Memorial Scholarship was in full swing today at NC State University. Dr. Grey Isley's students in the College of Design, School of Architecture have been working on the ARC 432 Architectural Construction Systems Masonry Lab for several weeks. Today a crew of judges representing the NCMCA judged eleven design projects that a group of 50+ students have been rigorously working on. We are pleased to announce the winners of the 2024 Sigmon Memorial Scholarship are: Prerak Shah, Hayden Ransbury, Ogechi Oseji, Justin Pov. Congratulations to these students as they enjoy a semester of paid tuition for all their hard work while learning masonry design to help them move masonry forward in the future.
